KEEP PUSHING INTO ALSACE

French Continuing Their Hard Drives in Western Zone

BATTLE OF BIG GUNS

French Cross the Fecht and Bring Under Their Cannon German Communications Near Munster.

London, June 19—The great French drive about Arras and in Alsace continues. Following its impetuous initial advance at Souchez and Neuville, the left wing army has set about strengthening the positions thus gained, while the aritllery kept up a continuous tornado of shells and high explosives to discourage German counterattacks. The German batteries however, replied with fierce bombardment, and a duel of the big guns was precipitated which almost equaled in fury the terrific cannonade of Thursday, when the French batteries alone fired continuously during 24 hours an average of more 200 shells a minute.

Against the Rhine positions the French made a fresh advance when they crossed the Fecht in Alsace and occupied with their advance Guards the outskirts of Metzeral. French gunners have now brought under their fire the German communications between Metzeral and Munster, the Germans' base, and the position of the Kaiser's forces at this point is reported to be extremely critical.

An entire attacking force of French troops was destroyed by the Germans north of the LaBassee Canal, according to the Berlin official statement, which admits that the French on the sector between Souchez and Ecurie, succeeded in penetrating the advance German trenches at several points.

Further admission is made by Berlin that the Germans surrendered a section of trenches to the north of the Lorette heights. This sacrifice, the German report states, was in accord with their plans.

The Berlin statement adds that the French losses on this front have been equal to those suffered by the Allies in the Champagne district, where, according to Berlin, the French percentage of casualties ran exceedingly high.

$300 A BOTTLE FOR WATER.

Schierson, Medical Faker, Gets Six Months.

Henry J. Schierson, who has done time in the Maryland Penitentiary, pleaded guilty yesterday to swindling people by selling them fake medicines and giving them fake medical advice and was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary.

He started the Dr. G. C. Brown Medical Institute, at 315 Madison avenue, sometime ago. His operations came to the notice of the State Labor Department through complaints filed by working people. The County Medical Society sent agents to the alleged medical institute.

They found Schierson selling to presons afflicted with serious diseases bottle of croton water for $300 each, representing that the liquid was impregnated with radium.

Herman Ridder says: "The great mistake that is made in taking Waterloo at the present moment lies in the assumption that the German emperor is the aviator of the little corporal, a megalomaniac, whose object is world conquest. An assumption less consistent with facts could scarcely be made. The character of the German emperor as a man of peace was firmly established long before this war was forced upon his country. That character has not changed. The German emperor, the German government, and the German people are solidly united in a war as unjust as any that was ever forced upon a peace-loving nation. They are determined to see it through, and they will. There can be no Waterloo for such a nation."

STUART OPPOSES SLAUGHTERING

Executive Would Protect Dairying Industry of Virginia

AID STATE'S WEALTH

Old Dominion Now Buying Millions of Dollars of Dairy Products From State of Wisconsin.

Richmond, June 19—Extensive slaughtering of dairy cows, which threatens a milk famine and the destruction of the dairying interest of the State, may be checked without endangering the public health, according to State and city officials and representatives of the dairymen.

That the situation is a serious one and that the public health must be protected at all hazards is conceded by the officials and the dairymen alike. Many conferences have been held recently to discuss the danger from cows affected with tuberculosis, and the best means of safeguarding the public while averting, if possible, the financial ruin of the dairy owners and an attendant shortage of the milk supply.

Governor Stuart, who has been consulted by different officials and who has, in turn, consulted with representatives of the dairying interests, is evincing a lively interest in this new problem.

Late yesterday afternoon the Governor gave out the followng statement to the public.

"After full consultation with B. L. Purcell, State Dairy and Food Commissioner; Dr. E. C. Levy, Chief Health Officer of Richmond; Dr. J. G. Ferneyhough, State Veterinarian and others officially connected with and interested in the preservation of the public health on the one hand, and prominent dairymen from various parts of the State and especially the city of Richmond on the other hand, I am convinced that action will soon be taken which, while it will in no wise jeopardize the public health or relax proper rules for its safety, yet will arrest the slaughter of dairy cows which now threatens the destruction of the dairying interest of the State as well as the local milk supply of Richmond and many other localities.

"Many enterprising men already engaged in the dairying business with a considerable outlay of capital for live stock and plant, and many other equally enterprising men who have been preparing to enter this most inviting business are now discouraged to the point of seeking new lines of business and will certainly do so if some element of permanency and stability is not promptly given to this business.

"It is confidently believed that the large class of worthy citizens engaged in dairying in Virginia will soon be relieved of apprehension, and opportunities acorded others to enter the business, all by a set of rules and regulations which will give thorough protections to the public in the matter of milk supply, and at the same time prevent traffic in diseased animals.

"Virginia occupies a position of exceptional advantage for the development of the dairying business, a business which has done wonders in building up States like Wisconsin and Michigan, not only in the matter of moneyed returns from the business, but in added fertility to the soil. Virginia cannot afford to give up what she has in this line or to discourage further development of it, but upon the contrary she should g give every encouragement and facility consistent with the public health to the expansion of a business which would leave annually several million dollars in Virginia that is now going to States less favorably situated for dairying than ourselves."

General Cadorna reported to the war office today that Italian shells tore great holes in the outer works of Malborget and sent part of the stone defense tumbling in ruins.

KILLED THREE PERSONS

Drink-Crazed Parricide Barricaded Himself and is Shot by Officer

Jamestown, N. Y., June 19—Fred Shaver, of this city, late yesterday shot and killed his father, his stepmother and a policeman, and was himself killed by other officers. The weapons used were rifles, and is act is attributed to drink and a quarrel with his father. The latter, Hudson Shaver, 67 years old, and well-to-do was married June 7 to Ruth Cambell 37.

Yesterday afternoon the son went to his father's apartments, where, after a dispute, the older man fled to the hall. There he fell dead from a rifle ball. The sound of the shot attracted Officer Kendall, who ran up the stairway.

Young Shaver shot the policeman in chest nad hip, and these wounds proved fatal an hour later. The murderer then barricaded himself in the apartment and the slaying of his stepmother probably occurred soon after that.

Shaver frequently appeared at a window, defying the policeman who had surrounded the building. Occasionally he drank from a bottle of whisky. He did not threaten the men who entered the apartment and removed the body of his father. Finally, young Shaver threw out a note addressed to a local paper reading:

"This is a proposition that I have contemplated ever since I have been drinking. Take good care of the chief of police and his officials. I tried to spare my father, but he grappled with me, and under the impulse of the moment I got him, too. Goodby."

A deputy sheriff called to him to surrender, but Shaver refused. Shortly afterward he threatened to fire into the crowd of spectators.

The next time Shaver appeared in the window several policemen stationed across the street fired in succession and he fell back to the floor. The officers then broke open the door and found young Shaver dead. Near the window lay the body of his stepmother. The officers did not know until they entered the room that Mrs. Hudson Shaver had been killed.

INTO THE JAWS OF DEATH.

New York, June 19.—Henry Lapierre, of Chazy, N. Y., who was a private in the Fifteenth Battalion of Canadian troops, reached New York yesterday aboard the steamer Arabic with a description of the fighting at Ypres May 15, when his battalion stormed the German trenches. Mr. Lapierre said that of the 1,000 men in the battalion only 150 got back to the British lines. The remainder were either killed, wounded or died from chlorine gas poisoning.

When the battalion was ordered to take the German trenches, 500 yards ahead of them, Mr. Lapierre said, they started on the double-quick. The intervening ground was swept by rifle fire. As they neared the trenches a cloud of chlorine gas came tumbling and rolling upon them, and men began falling right and left. Then a German detachment on the right flank opened a hot fire with machine guns. The cloud and the machine guns were too much. The battalion broke and the survivors, on their hands and knees, crawled back to the British trenches. Mr. Lapierre said he was made ill for several days by inhaling the gas fumes.

"I felt," he said, "as if vaporous fire had been poured into my nostrils and lungs."

BUSINESS IS NOT HAMPERED

Treasurer Burke Denies Charge of Excessive Legislation

"BUSINESS AND LAW"

Old Point Comfort, Va., June 19—Addressing himself to the charge that excessive regulation—particularly Federal regulation —is hampering business, John Burke, Treasurer of the United States, speaking to the Virginia bankers yesterday morning, denied categorically the truth of this indictment.

It is suggested, he said, that the Sherman act is a blight on enterprise on account of an alleged blunder of the Supreme Court in giving it a strict construction without reference to the common law or the light of reason. The charge of excessive governmental interference is laid also, he said, against the protective tariff and such meritorious legislation as the pure food and Federal reserve acts.

"How soon we forget the great necessity there was for pure food laws!" said Mr. Burke. "Have we forgotten the pure food exposition at the Madison Square Garden, New York, at which a sample of strawberry syrup was analyzed and found to contain enough coal tar dye to color a child's undershirt a vivid red, which was done and the undershirt hung in a booth at the exposition where all might see?

"The reserve bank act has been condemned as a wild, chimerical, fiat-money, wildcat banking scheme that was sure to bring inflation and disaster in the financial world, but at the recent Pan-American Financial Conference, which was attended by the biggest bankers in the country, this law was eulogized by the bankers as a law which had broken the shackles of the banking institutions, and not only enabled them to take care of the business of the United State, but enabled them through foreign branches to compete with the world for the commerce of the world. Instead of hampering business, this law not only helps business but makes business and banking safe."

Mr. Burke spoke on the subject, "Business and the Law," making out a strong case for sane governmental supervision of commerce and industry in order that business may observe an appropriate restraint and a proper regard for the rights of competitors.

The address was the first on the program at the morning session, which convened shortly after 10:30 o'clock, and followed the business of nominating officers for today's election, which opened the second day's session of the twenty- second annual convention of the Virginia Bakers' Association.

NOT TO CALL EXTRA SESSION.

Charleston, W. Va., June 19.—Governor Henry D. Hatfield does not consider the financial situation resulting from the United States Supreme Court decision on the Virginia-West Virginia debt litigation warrants him calling the Legislature together for the third time this year in special sesssion.

"I can see no reason for an extra session of the Legislature, and none will be called, unless there are developments to make such a call necessary," said the Governor.

Just how West Virginia is to meet its share of the debt has not been made public by those officers who have been considering proposed plans.

Rome, June 19—Italian artillery has silenced the Austrian fortress of Malborget, dominating important passes and peaks in the Carnic Alps.

TITANIC STRUGGLE IN EAST

Czar Orders That Lemberg Be Held at Any Cost

London, June 19—On the outcome of the titanic struggle raging between the Russians and Austro-German forces about Godez, sixteen miles southwest of Lemberg, rests the fate of the Galician capital and the real success of the Kaiser's campaign in the east.

The series of defeats suffered by the Russians have not been decisive enough to prevent Grand Duke Nicholas carrying out the strategic moves that, all military experts agree, lead to the present battle ground for the decisive engagement of the campaign.

Orders from the Czar have gone to the front that Lemberg must be held at all costs. The Russian troops that evacuated Premysl have withdrawn to the Godez lakes region, where a gradual concentration of the Russian forces has been strengthened by re-enforcements poured in from other points.

ALLEGED INNOCENT MAN

Rabbi Goldstein Declares Innocence of Cirofici is ow Officially Admitted

Albany, N. Y., June 19.—Rabbi Jacob Goldstein, a chaplain to Sing Sing prison and the Tombs, New York city, asserted before the bill of rights committee of the constitutional convention this week that one of the four New York gunmen executed for the murder of Herman Rosenthal went to his death an innocent man and that the district attorney's office has admitted as much in a communication to Governor Whitman. Mr. Goldstein would not name the gunman, but he is believed to have referred to "Dago Frank" Cirofici.

The rabbi appeared before the committee to urge a constitutional amendment abolishing the death penalty.

"From my own experience," he said, "and from what I have learned I know that scores of innocent men have died on the gallows and in the chair."

MILITARISM VS. DIPLOMACY

War Element in Germany Opposes Any Concessions to U. S.

CONFLICT AT BERLIN

President Wilson and Advisers Believe Kaiser Desires to Settle Differences Amicably.

Washington, D. C., June 19.—The military element of Germany is making a determined stand to prevent the diplomatic party making to the United States any concessions that will emphasize the dominance of the latter, according to both official and unofficial advices from Berlin.

The reason is declared to be a belief that if the United States secures all the concessions demanded by the President a mistaken impression will get abroad among Germany's enemies that she is fearful of eventual defeat. The conflict at Berlin is declared to be the first real difference of opinion that has developed since the war began, and at the present time the outcome is in doubt.

The military party is apparently willing to concede to the United States the propriety of its position that American citizens are entitled to the portection of their Government under all circumstances. And it is also said to be willing to admit that American citizens, and other neutrals, have a perfect right under international law to go anywhere they please.

But the leaders of this party are urging the government to put squarely up to the United States the proposition that, inasmuch as the allies are carrying their munitions on passenger vessels, the American Government should take up for serious consideration the suggestion of former Secretary of State Bryan that the navigation laws be so construed as to compel steamship companies to keep passengers off such boats. And the suggestion also is made that, the United States could very easily withhold passports to Americans unless the latter should agree to take passage on vessels flying the American flag which do not carry munition of any sort.

The President and his advisers are watching the conflict of ideas very carefully. They have already recognized the shrewd manner in which the military element is getting its opinions presented in this country in the form of seemingly frank newspaper dispatches that tell of the opposition to any modification of the submarine warfare. The President does not doubt that the German imperial chancellor ,the foreign minister and the group of officials who will finally "O. K." the German reply are sincerely anxious to amicably adjust the differences between the two countries in a satisfactory manner.

TO GIVE BAZAAR.

Board of Governors of Home of the Aged Also Decide to Call Home Ann Lee Memorial.

At a meeting of the Board of Governors of the Home of the Aged held in Lee Camp Hall last night, plans were formulated for the holding of a bazaar in the latter part of October, the proceeds to be devoted to this worthy institution. An offer from the Virginia Chapter, U. D. C., to participate in the bazaar with the members of the board of governors and the others interested in the Home of the Aged work, was read and accepted.

During the meeting it was also decided to call the home a memorial to the mother of Robert E. Lee, the peerless Virginia general, and hereafter the building will be known as the Ann Lee Memorial Home of the Aged.

Considerable pleasure was expressed by the members of the board at the communication from Alexandria-Washington and Andrew Jackson Lodges stating that these two fraternities would play a base ball game on June 25th for the benefit of the home.

MEETING OF COMMITTEE

A meeting of the finance committee of City Council will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock to receive important opinion from attorney John M. Johnson, who has been retained by the city, on the question of the right of the city to collect the present year's taxes on property in the territory recently annexed to the city and formerly in the counties of Alexandria and Fairfax. It is understood that Mr. Johnson will hold that under the annexation decree entered by the Supreme Court of Appeals the city will have the right to collect these taxes. Between $10,000 and $12,000 are involved.

On Tuesday night there will be important meetings of the street and finance committee relative to the street improvements in Alexandria which are to cost about $30,000. A favorable report will be made to council which meets the same night recommending that the improvements be made.

HINT FOR ALEXANDRIANS

The Health Department of Norfolk has ordered all of the owners of vacant lots in the city to have the weeds cut down.

The Gazette has often called attention to the importance of the elimination of weeds during the summer, and at this time, following clean-up days in this city, it is suggested that a war upon weeds should be started at once. These menaces to public health are allowed to multiply year after year and spread until in some quarters of the city it is necessary to adopt the tactics of Davy Crockett and cut one's way through in order to reach some dwellings.

Many thrive in many vacant lots in Alexandria, and at the end of summer fields of noxious growths can be seen. The cost of extirpating these eyesores would not be great.

Typhoid fever rages more or less every year, and anything which will in any way tend to minimize the number of such cases should be resorted to at once.

About twenty years ago the authorities of Alexandria started a crusade against weeds. In most cases the parties notified acted immediately and cleard their premises of the poisonous growths. Others, however, demurred, as is generally the case when sanitary measures are started. When the interests of the community are involved, all should work with a will toward making the city sanitary.

H. H. Gardner, "the Human Fly," who thrilled thousands in Richmond by scaling walls of the Richmond Hotel, met with a serious accident in Colombia, S. C., Wednesday afternoon when he essayed to mount to the dome of the Capitol building in that city. He lost his grip and fell forty or fifty feet, breaking two ribs and sustaining internal injuries.

SINKING OF THE ALABAMA.

Fifty-one years ago today a duel took place in the English Channel between the Confederate States steamer Alabama, Captain Raphael Semmes, and the United States gunboat Kearsarget, Captain John A. Winslow, which resulted in the sinking of the former. Captain Semmes escaped on the British yacht Deerhound, and the members of his crew were picked up by other boats which were nearby. The fatalities of both ships were small. This memorable naval battle took place off Cherbourg, France, or a Sunday morning. The Alabama had taken refuge in the French port after making a voyage from the Straits of Sunda.

Some newspapers who have printed articles on the anniversary of the destruction of the "scourage of the seas," as the Alabama was called in the North, fail to give material details in connection with the naval battle, and ascribe to Captain Winslow all the credit of a great victory. According to Captain Semmes's book, "Four Years Afloat," published after the war, the odds were against the Confederate commander. His ship never was a match for a man of-war, but was built for service as a privateer, to run from vessels of superior calibre. The Alabama had been blockaded at Cherbourg by the Kearsarge, and it was known that Captain Semmes must go out and fight or intern his ship. Captain Winslow had in the meantime virtually made an ironclad out of the Kearsarge by placing heavy chains around the upper part of his vessel.

When it was seen that the Alabama was about to accept Captain Winslow's challenge, many steam yachts bearing crowds of sightseers went from French and English nearby ports to witness the encounter.

Captain Semmes in his description of the battle says the Kearsarge was struck twenty-eight times, and one shell it will be remembered lodged near her sternpost but failed to explode. This missile was sawed out of the vessel after her return home and is now in some museum. Captain Semmes attributed his defeat to the fact that his ammunition was defective, damp, and would not explode. He calls attention to placing the shell near the sternpost of the Kearsarge and says had it exploded the Kearsarge would not have emerged victor; alho htat had the Kearsarge not been encased in chains some of the twenty-eight shots which struck their mark would have sent her to the bottom.

The Alabama was built at Birkenhead opposite Liverpool against the protest of the United States Ambassador to England and during her carrees destroyed about eighteen million dollars worth of American shipping. At the close of the war the United States demanded reimbursement from England. The latter was at first inclined to laugh at the claim, but the British government eventually concluded to pay the bill, as war with the United States would have been costly, especially to English shipping.

CAN JUDGMENT BE ENFORCED?

It has been suggested that there are numbers of ways open to the Supreme court for compelling obedience to its judgment against West Virginia, in the case of the present State against her offspring. One is that the Supreme Court could seize the tax collecting machinery of the State and levy a tax sufficient to meet the amount of the court's verdict. Another would be to put under the hammer enough of West Virginia's assets such as courthouses and school houses to meet the indebtness." But according to the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, it is by no means certain that West Virginia will voluntarily discharge the burden so assessed against her; and the methods to be employed by the Supreme Court to corece its payment are not so many or so simple as is assumed by some. No mandamus can be laid on the Legislature as to the taxes it shall impose nor can the buildings used in administering the State government be made liable to satisfaction of an execution. There is no constitutional or statutory provision setting forth how the Federal tribunal may give effect to a judgment rendered in favor of one State against another. There are, however, well supported precedents, established by Chief Justices Marshall and Story, under which the procedure of enforcement is limited, and therefore it was that in the litigation growing out of the readjustment acts of 1879-82 no attempt was made by the Supreme Court to dictate to the General Assembly what legislation it should or should not adopt, nor was any step taken to levy on the State Capitol or other public buildings, but remedy for the holders of tax-receivable coupons was confined to processes against the Attorney-General, Auditor and Treasurer to compel their performance in compliance with the orders of the courts. The case of South Dakota against North Carolina is referred to as pointing out the way by which West Virginia may be brought to book. In that instance the plaintiff State sued for the payment of certain road bonds, the greater part of which North Carolina had previously compromised. The Supreme Court awarded judgment—though by the close vote of 5 to 4 and entered an order that if North Carolina did not pay the claim 100 shares of the railroad stock owned by that State should be sold to satisfy the claim. But here the plain distinction arises that execution was served on property of North Carolina held as an investment and in no sense an essential or adjunct of the machinery of government. If West Virginia is the owner of railroad bonds or stock mines or lands not already dedicated by the Constitution or statutes to some such public purpose as education, then no doubt would exist of the rightful power of the court to subject it to levy. But as the matter stands, we are not inclined to hope that West Virginia has exhausted her resources for interposing delay in settlement of a moral obligation now made legal. "On the face of things" says the Times-Dispatch, "the decision of the Supreme Court of the Unit United State, upholding the findings of the late special master, Charles E. Littlefield, would seem to be final but doubt, sharpened by experience, lingers still."

NO CAUSE TO COMPLAIN.

A message received at Amsterdam from Frankfort says the Grand Duke of Baden, now at the front, has sent the following telegram concerning the recent, raid on Karlsruhe by French aeroplanes to the burgomaster of that city:

"Emperor William has telegraphed to me his deep indignation at the wicked attack upon beloved Karlsruhe. The poor innocent victims among civilians have greatly affected him."

La Fontaine in one of his fables tells of a lioness who was weeping, wailing and gnashing her teeth upon discovering that a hunter had stolen her cubs. A bear is representing as approaching and speaking as follows:

Think of the young that through your teeth have passed
In file unbroken by a fast
Had they neither dam nor sire?

The ancient Romans had a proverb, "What we do to other others will do to us."

FIGHTING NEAR WATERLOO.

Eighty miles from the battlefield of Waterloo, where Napoleon was crushed 100 years ago yesterday, a French army is hurling itself against the Germans before Lens, in one of the greatest battles since the fighting on the Marne. More shells are crashing against the German positions every hour than Napoleon used in the whole of that historic battle. Napoleon's army at Waterloo consisted of 71,947 men, a mere handful compared with the forces that grips around Arras.

Less than a year ago preparations were afoot in England to celebrate the centenary of the Battle of Waterloo by purchasing the famous field and dedicating it as a perpetual memorial, but the anniversary, with the battle field in the hands of the Germans passed almost unobserved.

ANTI-SEMITIC LAWS IN SPAIN.

The command, "Move on!" which Eugene Sue represents Ahasuerus and Herodias as obeying during the entire Christian area, is still heard. The plan to send some of the Jewish sufferers from the war in Europe to Spain has been abandoned, as laws enacted in that country against Israelites in the fifteenth century have never been repealed. The confiscation of their effects and banishment, as was done in the dark ages, may be the fate of members of the race should they take up their abode among the Castilians.

NEWS OF THE DAY

The condition of Bishop Alpheus W. Wilson, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, who is suffering from an attack of asthma in Baltimore, is unchanged.

Seventeen persons are now known to be dead and a score injured as the result of a series of tornadoes sweeping Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska Thursday night.

The reply of Bulgaria to the representations of England, France, and Russia relative to Bulgaria's entry into the war was delivered yesterday by Premier Radoslavoff.

A telephone message from the Santa Rosa Sound section of Florida, says that Peter Weyman and his wife, an aged couple, said to be wealthy, were shot to death in bed at their home there Thursday night. The Weymans came to Florida four years ago from Illinois.

Bets at 8 to 1 that Leo M. Frank would receive commutation of sentence from death to life imprisonment were freely made on the streets of Atlanta yesterday. It seems to be the unanimous opinion that the governor will grant clemency. Frank himself wears an air of assurance.

Justice Daniel W. Doub sentenced Marshall L. Richardson yesterday at Hagerstown, Md., to receive seven lashes at the whipping post in the jail here for beating his wife and threatening to kill her. The Justice, after hearing the evidences, said the man deserved 40 lashes.

The Corriere della Sera, of Milan, says it is reported that Prince von Radolin, former German ambassador to France, and Princess von Radolin were arrested in Berlin at the end of April, charged with espionage against Germany, but the censors forbade any mention of the incident.

Charles Becker, convicted of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, in New York has been denied a reargument of his appeal in the New York Court of Appeals. This closes the case so far as the highest State court is concerned, and Becker's only hope for a reprieve is from Governor Whitman.

In an aeroplane accident yesterday at Quincy, Mass., George H. Hersey, Jr., a mechanist, was killed instantly, and William D. Ely, of Providence, R. I., who was receiving instructions in flight from Harry M. Jones, the operator of the machine, sustained injuries from which he died on the way to the hospital.

The French Chamber of Deputies has adopted a measure proposed by Lucien Dumont to burn unidentified bodies at the front and to bury those which had been identified. Deputy Dumont said the question was an urgent one on account of the heat, the military authorities not being in a position to bury all bodies promptly during heavy fighting.

The Christiania, Norway, correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company sends the following: "The press demands a clear statement of the government's position regarding German submarine activity. The Morgenbladet says if the government persists in leaving its attitude doubtful, parliament must make its voice heard."

Crazed with worry when told she would have to be treated for cancer, Mrs. Annie Hall, aged 48 years, wife of Edward F. Hall, manager of the farm of Donald B. Creecy, near Tolchester, Md., tied clothesline about her neck, attached the other end to the limb of a tree and stepped off a chair. When her husband found her shortly after death had ended her troubles.

Rumors are circulating in Paris that Holland will soon enter the war, or, at, at least, give permission to the British to cross Dutch territory. A Belgian who has just escaped from Liege says that the Germans have re-arranged the whole scheme of the fortifications there. He says they now face northwest, against the Dutch frontier, instead of southeast, according to the original plans

The assertion is made by the Russian War Office in a review of recent fighting in Galicia that the Austro-German advance has been made at the cost of great losses. In two days' fighting near Stry the Teutonic forces are said to have lost "tens of thousands of men," and on one section of 38 miles on the Galician fronts, between May 29 and June 15, their losses are placed at between 120,000 and 150,000.

One man was fatally stabbed and four others received wounds of a omre or less serious nature when insurgent strikers at the Whittaker-Glessner Mill at Wheeling, W. Va., endeavored to prevent members of the Amalgamated Association from entering the mill. The riot lasted more than an hour, and 400 men were engaged. Extra police and deputy sheriffs are now on the scene, but more trouble is anticipated.

Many stories have come from Europe telling how the demand for wooden legs exceeded the supply; how the English attacks were failing because of a lack of ammunition and how doctors were hampered by a shortage of bandages. It is said that the Serbs for a while were dying so fast of typhus fever that there weren't enough coffins to bury all the dead. The makeshift was to carry them away on crates, several dead on a single carte to the grave.

Political and other conditions in Mexico, which presents a grave possibility of the total wreck of the new United States get-together policy, demanded earnest consideration yesterday by the President and the Cabinet. Carranza is standing firm and is rejecting the get-together plan, while the State Department received yesterday the reply of the Conventionist, or Villa, govrenment, practically accusing President Wilson of inconsistency and intimating that force will be met by force. Besides this, there is forced on the government the necessity of increasing the number of ships in East Mexican waters. Secretary of the Navy Daniels admitted yesterday afternoon that more warships had been ordered to the east coast of Mexico.

VIRGINIA NEWS

While in a delirious state, Albert W. Pond, ice dealer, 32 years old, committed involuntarily suicide by jumping out of a room in Virginia Hospital in Richmond Thursday.

At the next meeting of the Richmond Council the Jones resolution providing for the creation of a charter commission, which was unanimously endorsed by the Ordinance Committee Thursday night, will be placed on the docket for passage, and, though strong opposition may develop, it seems likely that the resolution will soon be passed.

Because she would not give her husband five cents with which to purchase cigarettes, Elizabeth Coleman, colored, of Richmond, is in bed with cuts in her shoulder arm and abdomen. The wounds were received by the woman while she was earning the family income at the washtub.

Robert Meadows, a cotton mill operative, in Danville, met a terrible death in the Dan River plant yesterday morning, when he fell with his face against the running card machine. One part of his face was ground away and he was partially scalped. He died three hours later in the hospital.

Fred E. Perkins, machinist in charge of the laundry department at Petersburg, was arrested on a warrant sworn out in Dinwiddie county, charging him with a felony. Perkins was discharged Thursday by Superintendent W. F. Drewery and is alleged to have appeared in the office later and brutally assaulted the superintendent. Dr. Drewry suffered a broken nose and other painful injuries in the mix-up.

Ida Masler, 18 years old, a white girl, of Woodstock, who was brought to Harrisonburg among the "fresh-air" children from New York, confessed yesterday that she tried to murder her 3-week-old baby Wednesday night. It was left in a vacant lot, where it was found by a negro. The baby had a severe cut on its forehead and marks on the neck gave evidence of choking. Clothing was stuffed in its mouth to smother its cries.

Officials of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway have reached an agreement with the car repairers and carpenters at the Clifton Forge shops, averting what threatened to be a strike involving several hundred men. The trouble grew out of a fight between Foreman C. A. Van Lear and William B. Scott, an employe, who was later discharged. The day following the difficulty between seventy-five and 100 men refused to go to work. A meeting of 300 or 400 union men was held in the City Hall at Clifton Forge Wednesday night, and the situation was explained to them by J. O. Peyton, of Huntington, traveling chairman of the Carmen's Union. John R. Gould, of Richmond, superintendent of motive power, went to Clifton Forge to represent the railroad, and, following several conferences, the men agreed to return to wor.

Court of Appeals

Wytheville, Va., June 19—Proceedings in the Supreme Court of Appeals yesterday were as follows: Powers vs. Hamilton, argued by W. H. Bond for appellant, and O. M. Vicars for appellee and submitted; Blondel's vs. Gunaner, submitted on brief; Stone Gap Colliery company vs. Hamilton argued by George C. Peery and E. M. Fulton for appellant, and W. H. Bond for appellee and submitted.

Court adjourned until Monday morning.

Next cases to be called are: Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company vs. Asbury's Admr.; Same vs. Stanberry; Dixon Livery Company vs. Ron; Osborne vs. Darby Coal Mining Company; Virginia Iron. Coal and Coke, Company vs. Hughes Admr.; Huettel Coal and Coak Company vs. Lawrence Admr.

We Suggest A Direct Line

A party line telephone is better than no telephone at all and in many cases is satisfactory; but for the business man or family who would have the greatest telephone comfort and efficiency, we suggest a direct line to the central office.

The advantages: you can always get central when you want to make a call and a clear track for incoming calls.

WAR'S TERRIBLE TOLL

Losses of the Principal Powers Engaged in Hostilities

Denver, Colo., June 19—Losses of the principal powers engaged in the war, furnished by the Red Cross Society and made public today by Dr. K. Ziegler, the German counsel in this city, show the total killed in the first six months' fighting was 2,146,000, divided as follows: German, 482,000; Austria, 341,000; France, 464,000; England, 116,000; Russia, 733,000. The losses of the Belgians Serbians, Montenegrins, Turks and Japanese are not included, exact figures not having been obtainable.

The wounded show an aggregate of 4,931,000. These figures show up to March 1, the daily average was, dead, 10,140; wounded, 23,000, and prisoners, 8,300.

New York, June 19—Herman Ridder says:

"A great authority on war subjects has estimated that Germany and Austria-Hungary have already lost in the neighborhood of 3,250,000 men. Yet, with these tremendous losses before them, these two countries are maintaining a war waged against them by well-nigh half the world with the same vigor and success that they showed in its first days."

Berlin, June 19—The prisoners taken by the German and Austro-Hungarian armies up to June 14 totaled 1,610,000. according to the Bavarian Staats-Zeitung. The newspaper says this total is divided as follows:

Russians, 1,240,000; French, 255,000; English, 24,000; Belgian, 41,,000; Serbian, 50,000.

AUSTRIAN GOT FIRST SHOT

How The Italian Submarine Was Sent to the Bottom

Venice, June 19—Details have been received here of the recent remarkable engagement between an Italian and in Austrian submarine, in which the Italian boat was vanquished. This is the first time in the history of naval engagements that an encounter between two undersea boats has been recorded.

The Italian boat was the Medusa, with a displacement of 300 tons, a speed of 14 knots an hour submerged and a crew of 14 men. She was lying submerged and the Austrian boat was not far away, also under water. Neither one had any intimation of the presence of the other.

The Medusa came to the surface first, swept the horizon with her periscope, and finding the way clear, she emerged. Shortly afterward the Austrian boat decided to come up. She sent up her periscope and saw the Italian not far away. Recognizing an enemy she immediately attacked, and one shot from her torpedo was sufficient to send the Medusa to the bottom.

One report has it that an officer and four members of the crew of the Medusa escaped and were made prisoners by the Austrians.

BRYAN'S PEACE PLAN.

Holds Universal Adoption of Treaties Would Prevent War.

Washington, June 19.—Former Secretary Bryan, in the third and concluding section of his statement on "the causeless war," issued yesterday, suggests mediation as "the way out." As a preventive of war Mr. Bryan proposes universal extension of his investigation commission peace treaty plan.

"Mediation," the former Secretary of State says, "is the means, provided by international agreement, through which the belligerent nations can be brought into conference; time for investigation of all disputes is the means by which future wars can be averted, and the cultivation of international friendship is the means by which the desire for war can be rooted out."

To assure permanent peace Mr. Bryan urges that his plan of investigation treaties be adopted by the warring nations.

"A treaty such as those which now protect the peace of the United States," he says, "would give a year's time for investigation and report, and who doubts that a year's time would be sufficient to reach an amicable solution of almost every difficulty? Does anyone suppose that the present war would have been begun if a year's time had been taken to investigate the dispute between Austria and Serbia?"

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months.

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

At all druggists.

How Mrs. Harrod Got Rid of Her Stomach Trouble

"I suffered with stomach trouble for years and tried everything I heard of, but the only relief I got was temporary until last spring I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and procured a bottle of them at our drug store. I got immediate relief from that dreadful heaviness after eating and from pain in the stomach," writes Mrs. Linda Harrod, Fort Wayne, Ind. Obtainable everywhere.
